However, I've read the whole book, and taken very close looks at the pictures, and have figured out what projects I want to try. I just have to motivate to go out and buy the supplies. I especially like the one where you create your own bamboo lamp form, so that you can make endless awesome paper lamps in any shape and color you want. I'm very motivated to get started! The pictures in this book are stunning. The directions seem to be very clear and well laid out. I have no questions, just walking through each step one-by-one. I just hope it holds when I first get my hands dirty! 0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Five Stars By Betty F. Fun! 11 of 11 people found the following review helpful. Great for learning how to make lanterns By K. Peterson This is a great book on making paper lanterns, but also includes projects such as accordion blinds or screens, that use paper's translucence. I like the inclusion by the author of various artists who work with paper lighting. Quite inspiring!

Create glowing, three-dimensional home furnishings with handmade paper. Helen Hiebert shows you how to use paper to craft textured lampshades, patterned window treatments, and stenciled room dividers that gently diffuse light and fill your home with a stylish warmth. Discover techniques to make your paper more interesting, including piercing, layering, and crayon batik. With easy-to-follow instructions and full-color photographs of 15 stunning projects, you'll be inspired to explore the endlessly exciting possibilities of mixing paper and light.

"you'll create some beautiful works of practical art. Natural light, candlelight and even the utilitarian light bulb become objects of beauty when encased in [Hiebert's] paper artwork." - Portland Oregonian "After seeing her [Helen Heibert] presentation I'm willing to give it a try." - Dallas Morning News
